

Students will:

- Spend more time thinking and working on fewer concepts.
- Understand concepts as well as processes (algorithms).

Teachers will:

- Make conscious decisions about what to excise from the curriculum and what areas need focus
- Pay more attention to high leverage content and invest the appropriate time for all students to learn before moving onto the next topic
- Build knowledge, fluency and understanding of why and how we do certain math concepts